Támogató SzolgálatThe aim of the Service is to help students with special educational needs, so a significant part of our work is related to education and training. Our aim is also to enable students with disabilities to participate in an integrated and personal way in lectures, seminars and conferences at the University, thus giving students who have previously only studied at home the opportunity to build social contacts. By being able to attend classes every day, healthy students can be exposed to the problems of their disabled peers and prejudice is reduced. Our services are also free of charge for students and teachers with disabilities.

TáncOn the occasion of the 650th anniversary of the founding of PTE, Univ Tv Pécs interviewed Zsuzsa Hágen and Csaba Magdali, the head of the Service, about the anniversary programme. The participants said that it has become a tradition at the University to organise integrated programmes and that they are preparing for the anniversary with an integrated dance. The idea is to bring together able-bodied and disabled students to present their dance work, which this year is linked to the 650th anniversary.

FrigadellaIn 2014, we welcomed a new volunteer, Malina Bak Jensen from Denmark. During a baking session with the disabled students, she presented one of her country's traditional dishes, Frigadella. It is a not too spicy meatball with onions, served with potato salad as a side dish. Cooking together is an intercultural activity that brings students, volunteers and the Service staff closer together.

Így Szakdolgoztok TiIn this video series, we present students with disabilities graduating from PTE. The videos follow the same theme. During the interview, our students introduce themselves, talk about their university years, and then present their chosen thesis topic as an important milestone on their path to becoming a professional. As an interviewer, the Support Service staff is joined by a fellow student who is in some way related to the thesis topic or to the thesis student himself.
